UC Supports Your Success

A major key to your success in the online Master of Health Administration degree program is exceptional instruction and dependable support. From the admissions process through graduation, you will have support every step of the way:

Enrollment Advisor
What if you could have one-on-one help when navigating the admissions process? At the University of Cincinnati, you do! Your Enrollment Advisor is available to answer questions, review financial aid, assemble your application, obtain transcripts, and guide your admissions experience.

Program Manager
After completing the application process, you are assigned a Program Manager to assist with registration, obtaining books and materials, and finding answers to any program or support questions you may have. You can expect to hear from them regularly as they help deal with the details so you can focus on your studies.

Faculty
The University of Cincinnati College of Allied Health Sciences has selected outstanding faculty from its own college, the UC College of Business, the UC College of Medicine, and experienced health administrative professionals and executives to form the Master of Health Administration program team. This combination of top faculty and real-world professionals are eager to prepare tomorrow's health administrators and leaders.

Peers
You are able to interact with your peers through chats and emails in Blackboard. This educational experience will allow you to gain different, diverse perspectives from across the industry.

Helpdesk
This technical support tool is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

For more information about this program, contact an Enrollment Advisor at 877-398-3050 or at admissionsmha@cahsonline.uc.edu

www.healthadministration.uc.edu
Selected Rankings
Excellence in education is our first and foremost goal. The University of Cincinnati and the College of Allied Health Sciences are recognized for their commitment to education and research:

• Top 200 national universities (U.S. News & World Report 2012 college rankings)
• Top 100 "elite values" in higher education (Money Magazine)
• Top 50 research libraries (Association of Research Libraries)
• 11th largest endowment of 569 institutions surveyed (Chronicle of Higher Education)
• Top 15 underrated gems (College Match)
• Top 2 public research universities nationally (Lombardi Program on Measuring University Performance Annual Report)

UC Accreditations
We hold the Top Educational Accreditation Available to Colleges and Universities. The University of Cincinnati is regionally accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Regional accreditation is the primary type of institutional accreditation in the United States. Some institutions hold national accreditation rather than regional accreditation because they are unwilling or unable to meet the rigorous standards of regional accreditation. Many educational institutions holding regional accreditation do not recognize credits or degrees earned at other institutions that are nationally accredited. This will be important to you if transferring from one institution to another part way through a degree program, or if you plan to pursue additional degrees at different colleges.

Online Coursework
The UC Master of Health Administration program was designed with working professionals in mind. Coursework is completed 100% online, offering you access to your virtual classroom any time, any place. With the Blackboard learning platform, you can connect with course materials, chat with classmates and professors, and complete assignments and assessments on your schedule.

Program Curriculum
The MHA program curriculum infuses real-world experience with competency-based coursework to create a comprehensive learning environment. Experts from UC’s Colleges of Allied Health Sciences, Business, and Medicine combine their expertise to deliver a truly transformative student experience.

UC Accreditations
We Hold the Top Educational Accreditation Available to Colleges and Universities.

The University of Cincinnati is regionally accredited by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

Regional accreditation is the primary type of institutional accreditation in the United States. Some institutions hold national accreditation rather than regional accreditation because they are unwilling or unable to meet the rigorous standards of regional accreditation. Many educational institutions holding regional accreditation do not recognize credits or degrees earned at other institutions that are nationally accredited. This will be important to you if transferring from one institution to another part way through a degree program, or if you plan to pursue additional degrees at different colleges.

Selected Rankings
Excellence in education is our first and foremost goal. The University of Cincinnati and the College of Allied Health Sciences are recognized for their commitment to education and research.

• Top 200 national universities (U.S. News & World Report 2012 college rankings)
• Top 100 “elite values” in higher education (Money Magazine)
• Top 50 research libraries (Association of Research Libraries)
• 11th largest endowment of 569 institutions surveyed (Chronicle of Higher Education)
• Top 15 underrated gems (College Match)
• Top 2 public research universities nationally (Lombardi Program on Measuring University Performance Annual Report)
• Classified as Doctoral/Research – Extensive by the Carnegie Commission, one of only 151 in the nation of nearly 4,000 institutions of higher education.

For more information about this program, call an Enrollment Advisor at: 877-398-3050 or at admissionsmha@cahsonline.uc.edu.
Lead Change and Improve Quality in Health Care

The evolving and dynamic health care field needs knowledgeable leaders who are passionate about improving health care. These leaders will inspire their teams to implement and embrace the changes that positively impact access, cost, and quality of health care.

The University of Cincinnati recognizes that our health care mission takes place in a complex, regulated marketplace and needs dynamic leaders to meet the challenges of today and tomorrow. The purpose of the online Master of Health Administration degree is to educate and develop exceptional leaders in every level of health care, from physicians’ offices and clinics, to hospital systems and laboratories. This academically rigorous program offers a unique, interactive educational experience taught by highly experienced faculty and health care executives who provide students with the skills needed to manage and inspire innovative health care solutions.

Highlights of the University of Cincinnati online Master of Health Administration program:

- Your degree carries the prestige of a top-ranked, regionally accredited, public, non-profit university.
- Graduation is possible in just 2 years.
- Competencies covered include key areas such as health policy, economics, business, finance, leadership, management, population health, and quality improvement of health care.

University of Cincinnati’s Online Master of Health Administration Program

Online Coursework

The UC Master of Health Administration program was designed with working professionals in mind. Coursework is completed 100% online, offering you access to your virtual classroom any time, any place. With the Blackboard learning platform, you can connect with course materials, chat with classmates and professors, and complete assignments and assessments on your own schedule.

Program Curriculum

The MHA program curriculum infuses real-world experience with competency-based coursework to create a comprehensive learning environment. Experts from UC’s Colleges of Allied Health Sciences, Business, and Medicine combine their expertise to deliver a truly transformative student experience.

For more information about this program, contact an Enrollment Advisor at 877-398-3050 or at admissionsmha@cahsonline.uc.edu.
UC Supports Your Success

A major key to your success in the online Master of Health Administration degree program is exceptional instruction and dependable support. From the admissions process through graduation, you will have support every step of the way:

Enrollment Advisor
What if you could have one-on-one help when navigating the admissions process? At the University of Cincinnati, you do! Your Enrollment Advisor is available to answer questions, review financial aid, assemble your application, obtain transcripts, and guide your admissions experience.

Program Manager
After completing the application process, you are assigned a Program Manager to assist with registration, obtaining books and materials, and finding answers to any program or support questions you may have. You can expect to hear from them regularly as they help deal with the details so you can focus on your studies.

Faculty
The University of Cincinnati College of Allied Health Sciences has selected outstanding faculty from its own college, the UC College of Business, the UC College of Medicine, and experienced health administrative professionals and executives to form the Master of Health Administration program team. This combination of top faculty and real-world professionals are eager to prepare tomorrow’s health administrators and leaders.

Peers
You are able to interact with your peers through chats and emails in Blackboard. This educational experience will allow you to gain different, diverse perspectives from across the industry.

Helpdesk
This technical support tool is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

For more information about this program, contact an Enrollment Advisor at 877-398-3050 or at admissionsmha@cahsonline.uc.edu

www.healthadministration.uc.edu